

SPRINGTIME

Words by Doug Berger, 2/83

And at this very moment,
As all the millions of spring creatures are
Huddled and snuggled in their secret hideaways
Waiting for the summer sun I will leave you with
An ancient space traveler's aphorism:

May your life be filled with peace and happiness.
May your work give you joy and profit.
May the road never rise to meet you.
And may the Man From Mars shower you with Butterfly Wings.
